Presentation

The Master's in Market Law is an innovative program within the European space, encompassing areas of law that directly and indirectly impact the market. It includes both traditional areas of law that have adapted to market changes and new areas that are increasingly important and require a deeper legal understanding. One notable aspect is its innovative multi and interdisciplinary approach, as it combines mandatory courses in private law, public law, and economics. Each semester, students enroll in four mandatory courses and choose one elective course from a selection of five options.
